

At NP Plastics, we are constantly working to develop and broaden the already extensive range of Horti products manufactured and marketed by our company.

Our recent expansion into the clip/plant ring market is another mark of this ambition. We are convinced of the potential of these products for further development.

From design to distribution, optimization is our aim in our pursuit of higher cost efficiency, quality and sustainability. Sustainability is a core value at NP Plastics, as attested to, among others, by our use of energy efficient production machines and the circular materials we select where possible for producing our Horti products.

With our in-depth knowledge of and years of experience in the horticultural world, we are confident that these new products represent a valuable addition to our Horti product portfolio.

All the products listed in this flyer are available in a range of different materials and colors, including PP virgin, PCR, PIR, MIPS and HIPS. Bio-based, compostable and/or biodegradable products are currently being developed.
